1.0. INTRODUCTION
This journal being international, multi-disciplinary, peer-reviewed, academic and research in nature, provides a platform for the publication of innovative and scientific research in the areas of science and development. The journal welcomes original investigations. The papers may represent a diverse theoretical outlooks and different methodological approaches. The major criteria in the review and the selection process concern the significance of the contribution to the area of academics and research.

1.1. HOW TO SUBMIT MANUSCRIPT
Before submitting your manuscript, please ensure you carefully read and adhere to all the guidelines and instructions to authors provided below. Manuscripts not conforming to these guidelines may be returned.

1.1.1. Contact details for submission
Authors are requested to submit their papers electronically using online submission and review web site (www.daagu.org). This site will guide authors stepwise through the submission process. Authors are requested to submit the text, tables, and artwork in electronic form to this address. Authors who are unable to provide an electronic version or other circumstances that prevent online submission should contact the Editor prior to submission to discuss alternative options; email: info@daagu.org The Publisher and Editor regret that they are not able to consider submissions that do not follow these procedures.

1.1.2. Submission checklist
Authors can use the list to carry out a final check of their submission prior to submission to the journal for review. One author has been designated as the corresponding author with contact details:
• E-mail address
• Full postal address
• Please ensure that all necessary files are uploaded.
2.1. MANUSCRIPT CONTENT AND FORMAT

Manuscripts should be written in English and typed 1.5 line-spaced, on A4 size pages, with margins of 1.75 cm on each side of the paper top, bottom, left, and right sides, in MS Word. A font size of 12 points and Times New Roman should be used. The major headings of the manuscript such as INTRODUCTION, MATERIALS AND METHODS, RESULTS AND DISCUSSION, CONCLUSION, ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS and REFERENCES should be left aligned and written in UPPERCASE letters. Abstract should be centered. The title of the manuscript should be centered not exceeding 20 words and placed at the top of the page and written in sentence case. All pages in papers must be numbered. The main text should be typed flush left with no indents. Insert one return between paragraphs, and a double return between paper title, and authors' names, and addresses on the first page.

2.2. TYPES OF MANUSCRIPT

2.2.1. Research papers

Research paper should not exceed 8000 words in length which includes references, tables and figures. Only research papers with multiple studies can go beyond this length with prior consent of editor-in-chief.

2.2.2. Review papers

Critical and comprehensive reviews that provide new insights or interpretation of the subject after a thorough and systematic evaluation of available evidence, may exceed the word limit for research papers if appropriate, and subject to the Editor’s agreement.

2.2.3. Short Communications

Short Communications are short papers that present original and significant material for rapid dissemination are limited to 3000 words and shouldn’t be subdivided. The paper should contain an abstract, main body and references. The abstract should be limited to 100 words.

Note: - For all types of manuscripts the number of figures or tables or combined should not be more than six.
2.3. DESCRIPTION OF MANUSCRIPT

Manuscripts for full length Research articles (Research papers and Review papers) should be checked for spellings, punctuation, grammar and coherence. All references mentioned in the reference list should be cited in the text, and vice versa. On the top of this, it should be divided into the following sections (in this order): Title page; Abstract, key words; Introduction, Materials and Methods, Results and Discussion, Conclusion, Acknowledgements, References, Tables (each table complete with title and footnotes on a separate page) and illustrations and figures, graphical abstracts / highlights files (where applicable).

2.3.1. Title page
The title page should have the title of the manuscript and full name(s) of the author(s), institutional affiliations. It should also indicate name, address, email, fax, and telephone number(s) of the author responsible for correspondence about the manuscript. Email addresses of all authors is mandatory. Only standard abbreviations should be used within the title.

2.3.2. Abstract
Abstract of the manuscript should not exceed 250 words. The abstract should state briefly the purpose of the research, the principal results and major conclusions. It is often presented separately from the article, so it must be able to stand alone. For this reason, references should be avoided. Also, non-standard or uncommon abbreviations should be avoided, but if essential they must be defined at their first mention in the abstract itself.

2.3.3. Key words
Below the abstract, a maximum of 5 keywords should be written, avoiding general and plural terms and multiple concepts like, "and", "of". These keywords will be used for indexing purposes.

2.3.4. Introduction
The introduction should clearly state background of the research which includes a summary of literature to indicate justification/rationale of the study and aims to contribute in field of study. It comprises of problem statement and the objectives of the study. Detailed literature survey and summary of results should be avoided.
2.3.5. Materials and Methods

Materials and methods include design, sampling procedures, measurements, data collection and analysis. Studies which involve human participants should have a detailed statement of ethical approval and consent in the methods.

2.3.6. Results and Discussion

Results should be clear and concise and represented by the pertinent findings in the text, tables and figures. Data repetition should be avoided in tables and figures. Result should match with the methods section. Research findings should be presented without interpretation and tables and figures should be highlighted in the text.

Discussion should explore the importance of the results of the work without repeating them. Results should be well interpreted with support of previous findings in this section. Avoid extensive citations and discussion of published literature. Be honest about acknowledging limitations.

2.3.7. Conclusion

Conclusion should state clearly the main inferences of the research findings and it should be self-explanatory and highlighting their importance and relevance.

2.3.8. Acknowledgements

Investigators should acknowledge individuals who substantially contributed for conception, design, acquisition, analysis and interpretation of data. Personnel involved in drafting and critically revising the manuscript and sources of funding also deserve to be acknowledged.

2.3.9. References

2.3.9.1. Citation in text

2.3.9.2. Reference style

2.3.9.3. Journal article

2.3.9.4. Book
2.3.9.5. Chapter in a book

2.3.9.6. Pages in a publication prepared by one or more editors

2.3.9.7. Proceedings

2.3.9.8. Thesis

2.3.9.9. Web references

3.1. TABLES, FIGURES AND SCIENTIFIC MEASUREMENTS

Tables and figures should be designed to be clear and easy to read. Information in tables and figures should not be repeated in the text but should emphasize the important findings. Tables should be numbered and referred in the text by their numbers e.g. Table 1. Start each table/figure on a new page after the reference list. Lines in tables should be kept minimum avoiding vertical lines. Footnotes should be in superscript letters to clarify points of potential ambiguity.

Illustrations should be given separately and numbered as figures in sequence like Fig. 1. Each figure should have a descriptive legend with citation in the text.

4.1. GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS

Authors are required to check their submission compliance with all of the following items:

1. Manuscript has been neither published, nor submitted to any other Journal
2. All illustrations, figures, and tables should be placed appropriately within the text.
3. If available, URLs for the references should be provided
4. The text should adhere to the guidelines and format of the journal
5. Withdrawal of manuscript will be possible only before the publication, written application to the editor is needed
6. Ethical consideration
   - Copyright: Rights related to the publication and distribution of research
   - Article Sharing: Details on self-archiving and posting
   - Article Withdrawal: Article removal or retractions
   - Study Subjects Consent: Ethical assurance should be obtained from concerned bodies
